

Take care of your money, taking control of your finances

Prioritize your consumption

It's all about making really smart purchases and even kicking yourself out of some bad habits.

Discard what you can do without

Once you have registered all your income, all your expenses, and identified your ant expenses, it is time to reduce expenses

Look for cheap or free options

There are many free channels on YouTube.

Join forces

If you have many subscriptions you can find a family plan or cooperate with your family or friends.

Ant expenses are considered those in which you spend on things you do not need, and that are not felt, becoming a leak in your personal finances.

Controlling and identifying them is an excellent strategy to reduce them.

Recycle your devices

Electronic waste is currently the fastest growing worldwide, generating serious environmental damage.

It contributes to reduce the generation of electrical and/or electronic equipment waste.

Proceed!

Before purchasing an electrical and/or electronic device, evaluate whether you really need to buy a new one or if it can be repaired.

If the device cannot be repaired or donated, take it to be recycled at a collection center such as:

- Anatel (National Telecommunications Association) green program.
- Recycle computers Mexico.
- Recycle Marathon.

Search the internet for (collection) centers in your area.
